ANNUAL NOTICE.

ALL persons indebted to the subscriber are requested to attend to the payment of their bills, on or before the 10th of January, 1850, and those having demands against him will please present them for settlement previous to that date. Persons so warned not to trust any of the employees of my PRINTING OFFICE on my account, unless they produce an order from me, as I shall pay no such demands.

GEORGE T. HAMMOND,
Newport, Dec. 29, 1850.

To day being our annual New Year's holiday, no paper will be issued from this office on Monday. This will be the last printer's holiday before May next.

A New Year.

"The wave is breaking on its shore,
The echo fading from its chime;
Again the shadow passeth o'er
The dial-plate of time."—WITTIES.
To all the friends, patrons and readers of the DAILY NEWS, we beg leave to offer the cordial compliments of the season, with a Happy New Year. For the kindly sentiments, the liberal patronage, and the general and hearty good will which they have manifested toward our establishment, as well as for the generous appreciation of our endeavors to serve them, they have our warmest thanks. What we have erroneously done in the past, we shall earnestly hope to do more correctly in the future; what has been neglected or overlooked we shall endeavor to discover and supply; and while it will be our constant aim and chief pride to furnish a cheap, truthful and useful public journal, we confidently ask a continuance of the public favor.

It is the season of festivity and social joy—of good wishes and good cheer—of the disburthening of the heart of care and of the hand of labor for a brief space—or pleasurable anticipations to the youthful, and of thoughtful and salutary reviews of the past to those of riper years. With due care to avoid the excess which evermore brings injury, we would have all these things indulged, and we would that they who have a large abundance of temporal blessings could be everywhere moved, at this joyous season, to impart some portion of their bounty to their less fortunate neighbors. In this way the generous soul seldom fails.

Waiving, on this festive day, all stereotyped fourths of July boasting, and all uncomfortable thoughts of the wide tyred disasters of the past season, let us greatly remember the free, and fertile, and beautiful land we live in—the superior excellence and utility of our institutions, political and ecclesiastical—the wide and liberal diffusion of knowledge—the numerous and noble charities and philanthropies that so brightly mark our land and age, and so broadly distinguish our civilization from that of the most highly polished nations of the olden time.

These reflections belong not exclusively to the Thanksgiving Day appointed by the Governor. They belong quite as properly to the day which now shines upon us;—for it should not be forgotten that the heartfelt pleasure of this ancient holiday is, with us, largely, if not mainly, the result of the circumstances to which we have just adverted—the happy allotment of our lives by an ever-watchful and all-merciful Providence.

As we enter upon a new year, it will do us no harm to renew and strengthen all good resolutions, and manfully strive to abide by them in future. It will do us good to be more thoughtful, more kind, charitable and obliging.

It will do us good to avoid the errors and follies which have brought discomfort to ourselves and others in the past; and to make an earnest effort to be wise hereafter.

And finally, dear reader, so far as you and we are concerned, this New Year, and all ensuing years of earth, will soon be past; shall we not, therefore, wisely turn our thoughts and aspirations to the Great Future which so surely awaits us; and in the hope of a better life in the Land of Light, be fully ready at last to lay down the ones we now enjoy.

"Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

One of the curious facts recently revealed by the publication of custom house tables, is, that there was imported into this country last year, three hundred thousand pounds of opium. Of this amount, it is estimated, from reliable data, that not more than one-tenth is used for medical purposes. The habit of eating opium is known to be spreading rapidly among lawyers, doctors, clergymen, and literary men; and enormous quantities are used by the manufacturers of those poisonous liquids which are sold out in drunks in the saloons and groggeries that infest every city and village in the country.

LOCAL.

Court of Justice.

There was a full house in Court yesterday, notwithstanding the storm. It is very seldom such an audience is collected in that Court room, comprising as it did, some of the most respectable of our citizens. The first business was the State versus Caleb C. Langley, for assault and battery. Continued, on motion, till Tuesday, Jan. 4.

The next case, was State versus Ivory W. R. Marsh, for assault and battery upon John O. Peckham, a lad of 15 years, a pupil in the High School, of which Mr. Marsh is teacher. The case, as we gathered from the evidence on the stand, is as follows:

On Wednesday forenoon, 29th instant, the lad Peckham was detected in the act of whispering. Half an hour subsequently, the teacher came and whispered to him to remain after school, which he accordingly did.

After the other scholars had left the room, the teacher approached Peckham, and remarked to him—"You were, engaged in whispering this morning." "Yes, sir, I was." Mr. Marsh then explained to him that whispering was one of the things that could not be tolerated in the school, and said further "I now want you to promise me that you will whisper no more." "I cannot do it," says the boy; "I am afraid I could not keep it; I will try, though, to avoid whispering in future." Nothing, however, would satisfy the teacher short of a positive promise, and he gave the lad ten minutes to decide whether he would give it or not. At the end of that time the boy still remaining in the room, Mr. Marsh produced a cow-hide and requested John to give him his hand. This he declined doing, and the teacher gave him three minutes to make up his mind on that, during which he descended and locked the street door, so that he was alone with the boy, without witness and secure from intrusion from without. He then returned to the boy, and finding him still determined not to submit his hand to the punishment, he commenced laboring him about the legs with the cowhide; the boy caught the arm of the teacher and endeavored to get hold of the weapon, upon which Mr. Marsh struck him once or twice on the head, near the left temple, with his fist, leaving the mark of the blow. The boy then seized a chair, and was ordered by the teacher to put it down, or he "would knock him down like a flip." The young lad then dropped the chair, and Mr. M. renewed the flogging laying on the blows about the boy's legs until it is presumed he was tired, when school.

This was the testimony of the boy. His father being put upon the stand, testified that his son came home with his pantaloons literally cut to pieces and marks on the lower part of his person in more than a dozen places, in some of which the skin was off. The punitions were exhibited in Court. They were a new pair, and made of stout woolen cloth and lined, and were cut through and through in fourteen different places, as thoroughly as it could have been done with a knife. This ended the testimony for the government.

Major Cranston appeared as counsel for the defense. There were no witnesses on this side. Mr. C. in his usual brief and comprehensive style, proceeded to comment on the ease in reverence to the government of schools, upon the difficulties of teachers, and the necessity of their being empowered to administer corporal punishment. He closed by remarking that if it was found that Mr. Marsh had exceeded reasonable bounds in administering punishment, he, of course, was amenable to the law.

Mr. Chaffield, for the prosecution, then took the floor, and delivered an eloquent plea for his client. He, too, was an advocate for a proper restraint upon schools; but this he regarded as an overstretch of authority on the part of the teacher, and reprehensible in the highest degree, amounting, in fact, to downright brutality, (although we believe the term was not made use of.) He exhibited the pantaloons to the Court and spectators and argued that no man with a parent's feelings would tamely submit to such treatment of a child.

At the close of the argument, which occupied about half an hour, the Court, after a moment's deliberation, decided that allowed by the statute, and sentenced Mr. Marsh to pay a fine of twenty dollars and costs of prosecution, and to stand committed in the State's jail until the sentence was performed in all its parts. He appealed the case, R. H. Stanton, Esq., becoming his surety.

Mr. Marsh is a recent comer here, having taught the school only about 3 weeks.

ARRIVALS FOR DECEMBER.—There were during the month of December, 284 arrivals at this port, as follows: 1 ship, 3 brigs, 17 brigs, 208 schooners, and 63 sloops.

MEMORANDA

Arrived at Middletown 23d, 1ch Fanny Fern, Briggs, for Hartwick.

Arrived at Bay West 14th, 1ch Harriet Lewis, Saunders, Newport, (and 16th for New Orleans.)

Cleared at New York 20th, sloop Willard, Buckingham, Newport.

DISPENSERS, &c.

The claim of the pilot boat David Mitchell for assistance rendered to the brig Ocean Bird brought into this port for distress on the 12th of December, being put for arbitration, the decision has been given, allowing the pilot boat.

The arbitrators were S. M. May, Augustus Littlefield and Capt. Paddock, Capt. J.

D. Northam represented the pilot boat, and P. C. Cook, Esq. the Ocean Bird.

Sabine Mary Ann, Bryant, from Elizabethport, in Boston 25th inst., was in contact with her Jew, of Gardner, in the Narrows, and broke foreboom and split foremast. The Jew was slightly damaged.

The vessel was passed by steamer Swanee and came to the N. or A. N. Marshall, was doublets the sloop W. A. Newell, which sank after striking on the bar at Pass Casco.

Seh Sagamore, from Philadelphia, of and for Providence, before reported abandoned at sea, was an A2 vessel, of 94 tons register, built at Fife, Scotland, in 1819. Her cargo of 120 tons coal was insured for $300 at the Atlantic office, Providence.

A telegraphic despatch states that "ship Milton of Boston," with lower main sprung, was seen 1st ult., off Pernambuco, going in tow of a steamer. Ship Milton, (of Boston) Harbor, arrived at St Thomas 18th ult., from Newport E, and remained in port 13th inst. The vessel reported may prove to be the ship Medway, New York, Aug. 30th, for San Francisco, and was spoken Sept. 25, 1st 33 21, Jan. 37 50, in distress, steaming for the Western Islands, having been badly damaged in a gale 12th. It was reported that she had nothing standing at the time but fore mast and fore topmast and main mast with topmast.

Ship California, Pacific, Wheeler, from New York for Montevideo, was at Pernambuco, Nov. 1, with mainmast sprung, and leaky. Was discharging.

Sab W H Mitchell, of Middletown, at New York from St Anna Bay, J. J. Key West, had main boom sprung, galluoy stove, sail split, &c. in heavy weather.

Barque Gen Green, at New York from Charleston, lost her entire dock load of spirits turpentine, spar spars, lumber, &c. 21st ult., off Cape Romain, in a heavy NW gale.

Brig Bonaparte, from Boston for St Pierre, Mq., was wrecked on Seal Island previous to 24th inst.

Brig Samuel Otis, wrecked on Amelia Island was 257 tons register, built at Belfast in 1835, and owned there by J. W. Elwell. Sch A. Moore, condemned at St Thomas, and sold there 9th ult., is to be refitted.

Sh. Kate Brigham, at New York from Charleston, reported 26th inst., off Cape Henry, spoke a round stern barque painted black, who had a, and said, report—overboard; the barque coming down before the wind very fast, could not distinctly understand what was said.

Harpie Goudspeed, of New York, that was in collision with the steamer Genoa, in the River Mersey, has been put into the Graving Dock, for survey and repairs. Considering the nature of the collision, less damage is done to the Goudspeed than might have been apprehended. An entire mast torn, however, will be required, and new bow timbers, &c. The breast hooks are loose and started and three entire panks broken; the striking shock of the collision being so full to fall over the vessel, her metal had to be stripped off and all caulked.

Ship Signore and Lady Russel were in collision 8th inst., in Mobile Bay, damaging latter about $1000.

Soh Almira, Emerson, from Rappahannock River, Va. via New York, of and for Providence, with a cargo of 70 cords of wood and 20,000 feet of pine, for the Boston and Providence Railroad Co, lost foremast during a heavy NE blow on the afternoon of the 21st inst. in Long Island Sound, and put into Huntington Bay for a harbor. At 2 AM, 22d, a wind came out from NW, got under way, with main sail and jib, and at 3 o'clock, when off Boston's Neck, Long Island, it blowing very heavy, the schooner mistayed. Both anchors were immediately let go, but soon after parted the small chain, and dragged ashore, broadside on the beach, the sea breaking completely over the vessel.—All hands succeeded in landing on the beach at 4 o'clock the same morning, nearly perished with cold, having saved most of their effects. At 9 AM on the 25th, the vessel was badly damaged, the rocks having forced themselves through it. The dock load was thrown overboard shortly after the vessel struck. She had not been stranded.

Newport, Feb. 20, 1858.

Improved Fire and Water Proof Felt and Composition Roots.

Our subscribers would respectfully call the attention of persons building, or about to build, to the above composition, which they have used to the entire satisfaction of many persons in this community who have lately put roofs upon old, as well as new buildings in every description. The so roofs have been pronounced by Architects, Builders, and others who have a knowledge of their merits, to be of greater durability, and to be possessed of fire and resisting properties to an extent beyond that of any root now in use.

The materials of which these roofs are composed are not affected by temperature.

They will not expand or contract with heat and cold, either of iron or tin.

The cost is much less than any other roof covering, and is so arranged that it is impossible for patients to come in contact with each other.

Respectfully the number—13 Howard street.
